

WASTE & RECYCLING PRACTICE

Our Specialty? Reducing your risk

Waste management and recycling are dynamic, risky industries. They require a comprehensive approach to handling their unique liabilities. Drawing on over 40 years of combined specialty expertise, our Waste & Recycling practice will partner with you to effectively manage your risk. We go beyond traditional methods to protect your assets, employees and bottom line.

Industry Insight

We provide coverage for a wide range of exposures, including: workers' compensation, automobile liability and physical damage, general liability, excess liability, environmental and pollution liability, bonding, cyber liability and management liability, including directors & officers.

The organizations we serve operate in one of the most difficult and dangerous industries in the country. From recycling facilities to hazardous and non-hazardous waste haulers and landfills, our team understands the intricacies of your business and will work to craft a customized program to protect your company and employees from various risk factors.

- Property exposures, particularly in recycling facilities
- Automobile accidents
- Excess liability to protect against "nuclear verdicts" inherent in the trucking industry
- Workers compensation to protect employees against higher than average risk exposure

Solutions and Capabilities

Due to the increased exposure and liability facing waste and recycling companies, it can be difficult to secure adequate coverage. Our team understands the complexities of the market and will use our skills to mitigate your risk and our relationships to develop specialized insurance plans.

- Safety training and resources tailored to you specific operational risk to improve safety practices and scores
- Risk management including loss control and robust claims advocacy to help keep claim costs down
- Customized insurance programs designed to provide the most cost effective solutions
